

Self-Assessment
Aster Volta

Throughout this fundamental writing course, I practiced writing different types of essays. When comparing my first and last essay, I see improvement in my writing and idea organization. I also improved my public speaking skills, and participated in multiple collaborative projects. I learned how to structure an essay, and how to write more effectively. I enjoyed the different topics that were covered in the readings and class discussions. As I practiced writing, I felt more comfortable making mistakes and revising my drafts. This process helped me learn from my mistakes and become a better communicator.
